"Star Trek redefined science-fiction and constantly pushed the envelope with concepts that were ahead of their time," Nogawski said. "By Giving the series a digital upgrade using the best technology available today, it will continue to be a leader in cutting-edge television programming as we introduce the series to a new generation of viewers."

The most notable change is the fact that many of the special effects, created with 1960's technology, will be given a 21st century computer-generated makeover. The following shots have been updated for this run of the show:

- Space Ship Exteriors
- Show Opening
- Galaxy shots
- Exteriors
- Background scenes

The refurbished episodes also feature higher quality sound for the famous opening theme. The original score by Emmy Award-winning composer Alexander Courage, has been re-recorded in state-of-the-art digital stereo audio with an orchestra and a female singer belting out the famous vocals. A digitally remastered version of William Shatner's classic original recording of the 38-word opening monologue continues to open each episode.
